MOST TERRIBLE OF DEATHS.

Spider's Bite Probably the Worst Known to Scientists.

What is the most terrible death in of the most terrible known to mortal man, but as to which of those given is the worst it would probably be hard

One of the most agonizing deaths known is caused by a small black spider half the size of a pea. It lives in Peru and South Australia, but a and America in ship loads of lumber. Not long ago a dock laborer while un-loading a vessel in the Victoria docks felt one upon his hand. This deathdealer dug its fangs deep into the man's flesh, and as soon as the poison began to work he fainted with pain. He was dead in three days. This Spider's venom scorches up the blood vessels and spreads through all the tissues, causing the most fearful agony a human being can have to bear.

The worst of it is that the victim lives at least two days. The spider is generally known as the "specky." When a man who knows what the eans becomes the victim he generally blows out his brains.

Another fearful death is caused by eating a grain called "bhat." This sometimes gets mixed with rice, which it resembles. The plant grows in the far east, and a few grains of it will drive a person into a state of violent mania. The victim becomes drowsy at first and afterwards hilarious: the he goes raving mad, tears himself to pieces with his fingers and bites mouthfuls out of his flesh. This grain is found only in the remotest parts of the east, but both white men and natives are killed by it occasionally, for the plant grows in with the rice crops, and there is no way of telling them apart, except when the grain is dried it comes out in a sort of brick-

There is a South American plant, or vine, called the "knotter," which fas-tens about any living thing that es within reach, twining its long tentacles about a man as a devilfish might. These tentacles sear and burn into the flesh like white-hot wires, and the victim is dragged into the heart of the foliage, and his life slowly drained as the spider sucks the blood of the fly. Those who have strong instincts of cruelty, sometimes force a dog or other animal into the grip of the "knotter" to watch the ects, which are too horrible to describe in detail.

When Lord Elphiston was in America a couple of years ago he was en-tertained at dinner by a family the nead of which was to accompany his lordship on his hunting trip through the wilds of the northwest. A child of about five years, named Ethel, during the dinner was big-eyed and big-eared with wonderment—in fact, completely overawed by the presence of the distinguished foreigner. Ethel heard her mother and father now and then say, "My lord this, and my that," or "Will you have some of this, that?" the dinner my lord, or some of that?" the dinner being a purely informal one. Finally, when the mother was interested in the conversation of another guest, Ethel up into the middle of the flames, and noticed that milord was gazing interhis reach. The child thought she saw a chance to please Lord Elphiston, and in a firm, clear voice, exclaimed:

New York's Highest Building. "How high is it?" This question at once directs thought to the Singer building, in lower Broadway. The question is asked by thousands of persons crossing from the Jersey shore. It was asked the other day of a tall, scholarly-looking man standing on the upper dick of one of the Pennsylvanis ferryboats. "I do not know its exact height," said the man addressed, "but this I give as an opinion, that during a heavy thunder shower the height of that building would make it entirely nossible for the sun to shine on the roof while the lower stories are being deluged by rain. The heavily laden rain clouds are only about 500 feet above the earth, while the lantern of the new Singer building will be almost 600 feet high. The building will tower high above the fog banks, I venture to say, thus affording Nev Yorkers one of the features of Switzerland right at their own doors."-N

How Bears Play.
In a recently published work a nat prolist gives some interesting facts concerning the playtime of animals The bear is supposed by many to be a rather solemn animal, but he is given to pranks at times, and even es in antics that closely resemble games played by children The naturalist observed three cubs repeatedly playing a game very much like tag. A cub would chase the oth-ers, until he cuffed one with his paw; then the one hit took up the chase. its Hiding Place Has Been Pointed Out in Dreams of Ghosts.

Since the French privateer an smuggier, Jean Lafitte, sailed the high as and brought his treasures to the gulf coast and buried them now and then it happens that some sensation arises as to their immediate where abouts, says the Houston Post.

Thirty-four years ago the pirate of the gulf, as Lafitte was called, appeared in a dream to Dr. Beasly, and rather roughly taking him by the collar, told him to come with him and he would show him where there were gold and silver and diamonds buried midnight visitor and he directed him to a certain place in the cottage, which was then the Beasly home and occupled by the family, and designated the spot under which lies the muchtalked-of wealth of the privateer.

The doctor, having the same dream repeated twice in the same night, be came wide awake after Lafitte's third visit and much interested, the result being that he did, and perhaps, too, very shortly afterward, begin digging under the house in pursuit of the treasure.

After getting to the depth of fou or five feet he found nothing of any moment except a very unusual stone in this part of the world, where noth ing of its kind was ever seen here.

Had he kent on possibly the tres. ure might have been found and the restless spirit of Lafitte, wherever it may be, might have been released from this burden of secrecy, a burden from which, seemingly, he be relieved, as another visit has been made in the same house, and this time in a dream Lafitte appears in the presence of a lady, urging her to get the

The relics around and upon the skeleton are in harmony with the theory, deducible from the position in which the body had been placed, that the burial belongs to a very early period. The condition of the bones and the relics is so good that they could be readily set up in a museum in the original position. Discoveries have also been made recently in the Island of Coll. An important find was that of a set of 30 small, finely-made fint implements, probably of the Bronse age. The objects include one of the most beautifully-made flint arrow points, of a type more common in Ire land than Scotland.

Are you earning $100 or more each month?

Why don't you earn the above amount each month?

Why don't you place yourself in a position to demand and get from $1,000.00 to $5,000.00 salary each year?

Why do you pay a Correspondence School $36.00 for its conrse when you can buy our plan for $2.00?

Why can't you learn as readily from a text-book giving the course thoroughly and in a complete, plain way, as from a Correspondence School sending one lesson at a time?

Do you consider it worth while to spend $2.00 in order to place yourself in a position to earn perhaps twice as much each month as you are now earning?

Are you a Clerk, Bookkeeper, Telegraph Operator, Lawyer, Banker. No matter what you do, a thorough course of Shorthand will make you worth more. If you are a Farmer it will be a good thing to teach your son or daughter. No one knows when it may become handy and you may not always stay on the farm.

The demand for good Stenographers is always greater than the supply and the salary is from $15.00 to $50.00 a week; often more; Court Reporters earn from $2,000.00 to $10,000.00 per year. The Reporter for the United States Senate receives $25,000.00 for his services, and the Commercial Shorthand writer receives from $50.00 to $100.00 a month for ordinary office work

Wage earners of every class who wish to advance in their present positions, or are dissatisfied and wish to take up other and more lucrative work can do no better than to perfect themselves in Shorthand.

Have you stopped to consider that if you learn Shorthand by our course, and in that way you get but $10.00 more salary each month, it will mean at the end of the year $120.00, the chances are it will be more than that? Isn't the study and investment of but $2.00 worth while?

This offer holds good ten days from the issue of this paper only. If you see any value in it, buy now. Send draft or postoffice order of $2.00 and you will receive instructions promptly.

Both the Plymouth Rock and Brahma pure bred are winter-laying fowls, all other conditions for laying being met For Plymouth Rocks, the hens should be laying at 6 months of age. They should be hatched so as to bring them to maturity by October, or while the warm weather continues. If they are not started to laying before cold weather sets in, they are nearly sure to postpone laying until February, or near that, as this matter of laying somebow seems to be under a sort of bodily control. Harvesting Beets.

To harvest sugar beets costs from $5 to $10 an acre, depending upon the condition of the soil. Most of this work is now accomplished by a system borrowed from Europe. This consists in extracting the beets from the soil with an implement drawn by two to four horses. It is in the nature of a plow. There are several forms, one of which is called a "puller." This has two finger-like tapering prongs, which run through the ground parallel with the surface, but bout ten inches below. The space between these prongs is wider at the points, gradually lessening to their back ends. These prongs are supported by two upright pieces attached to the beam. When pulled through the soil the points are carried on either side of the beet, compelling it to pass ly the prongs tighten against the beet as it is being forced through the space. breaking off the taproot and forcing it up. The beet is elevated two or three inches and left in the loose dirt. Another form of the implement conalsts of a plow with a narrow moldboard and a long sharp knifelike share, the edge of which penetrates the soll at about the depth of ten inches, cutting off the beets, lifting them several inches and throwing them on the side over against the loose dirt. A workof the top, lifts the beet from the loose soil and with a sharp knife cleaves off the crown from which the leaves have grown. The beets are then bumped to thrown in piles and the tops in others. From these piles the beets are loaded tory.-C. F. Saylor.

Raising Squabs.

To make money in squab growing. are and attention must be given to the work in hand, and the birds must be properly cared for and thoroughly well fed and looked arter through the season of growing squabs. It is possible, from good, strong, large-sized breeding stock to produce sounds at four weeks old that will weigh from 7 to 12 pounds per dozen, size, weight and growth depending entirely upon the quality of the producing stock, the care and attention bestowed upon them and the care and quality of food fed to the parent pigeons. There is no question that money can be made in growing squabs, if properly done. Squab growing has become, like the growing of noultry, a business, and not a pastime, and it is possible for those who understand it to handle several hundred pairs successfully.

Wild pigeons and common pigeons will do to grow squabs, but the squabs ire never so large or so desirable for market as are the young grown from the large, strong, vigorous homing pigeous. It always pays best to obtain the finest and largest producing stock nossible, and the homing pigeons seem to meet the demands best of all,

When starting in the pigeon business, it would be rather expensive to purchase 100 to 500 pairs. It will scarcely be likely that one unfamiliar with the work would be able to handle so many. You had better start in with twelve o twenty-four pairs and practice with these the first year. Keep for breeders the foil wing season all that you can grow from these. MESSAGE BY GOV. WARNER }

m Gov. Warner's message to the Michigan Legislature assembled in special session was in part as follows: "There cannot be, I firmly believe the slightest doubt in the mind of any candid person who has given the matter even cusual consideration, that a vast majority of the people of Michigan desire that there be embodied in our statutes provisions which shall apply nike to all offices which they affect and which shall place the nomination of candidates for these offices absolutely and finally lu the hands of the people without recourse at muy time or under any conditions to a delegate convention. The truth of this assertion is so apparent that it should be unnecessary to more than state it. It cannot be successfully controverted. "It is well known to all of you that the 40 per cent provision of the present law was included in that statute as a matter of pecessary compromise. The House passed a general primary bill which contained no percentage feature. In this form the bill could not pass the Benate, and in order that the best possible start toward the accomplishment of the reform demanded by the people migh be made, it was necessary to include the percentage provision. If this had not been done no primary legislation would have been enacted, at that session of the Legislature.

What Has Been Accomplished. "In 1900 a total of 804 candidates for political offices, including candidates for State, congressional, legislative and county offices, were nominated by direct vote. This number, likewise included 70 subsequently successful candidates for sents in this honorable body. Yet in 802 of these cases no one for a moment thought of requiring that the successful candidates poll any given percentage of a total vote. It would be as reasonable to suggest that the constitution be amended so as to require that unless some party can-didate for Governor or Lieutenant Governor received 40 per cent of the total vote cast at the general election the choice of those officials should be made by the Legislature as to make it necessary candidate if no person polls 40 per cent of the total vote cost at the primary is no argument that can be vanced in support of the one proposition that will not apply with equal force to the other. On the other hand, the absolute weakness of the so-called argument in its application to either proposition is o apparent as to admit of no dispute

"I am firmly of the opinion, too, that the members of the different political par-ties should be afforded the opportunity to elect by direct vote the delegates to the national conventions. Delegates to rentions act in a purely representative capacity and should be chosen by the most direct method. This primary elecexpense, as the delegates could be elected on the first Monday in April, and elec-tion day throughout the State. A general law of this kind for electing these delegates would prevent the holding of snap caucuses and conventions long before the call for the national convention is issued and enable those who are expected to elect the nonlinees to have more to do with their nomination.

"In this connection I desire to call your attention to the necessity of provid-ing more stringent regulations governing the holding of county and district conventions in localities where the direct nomination system does not prevail. No convention should be called to elect delegates to a national, State or district convention that has not been called. The other course is sometimes taken from good mo-tives, no doubt, but they are seldom made public. Cleaner politics and good government will be promoted by making suc practices against the letter, as well as the spirit of the law."

The message also asks that a law he enacted providing for one primary day for all primary nominations, and for a law providing for the direct nomination of candidates for the United States Ser On the subject of lobbying the Governor says:

"Ranish the Lobby"

Public hearings and the right of petition as to all matters coming before the Legislature are legitimate methods of inhearings there should be no place, either in the legislative halls, the committee rooms or the lobby for the professional lobby st.

"The first step must necessarily be taking with contempt the introducer of any so-called 'strike' legislation designed for the sole purpose of attracting the atten-tion of these special interests, thereby inviting them to either pay tribute or to employ the professional lobbyist in defense. Such legislation and its spon-sors should be publicly denounced, and their real purpose exposed.

"There should be no lobby that will not stand the light of the fullest pub-licity. Legislation of the nature I have in mind has already been enacted in New York, New Jersey, Iown, Wisconsin, Min-nesota, Missouri, Colorado and other States, and in recent conversation with the Governors of several of these States largely eliminated the evil at which it is directed."

The message closes with a request to re-enact the faulty Northern school appropriations bill.

MICHIGAN LAWMAKERS

Bill Against Lubbyists.

The anti-lobbying bill introduced by the House is said to be a redraft of the Wisconsin law and, while Its chan mssage are excellent, there are likely to e some stunning amendments made to it On its face the measure looks drastic enough. It provides that persons em-ployed as lobbyists must file a statement with the Secretary of State showing the nature of his employment within thirty days of the meeting of any Legislature nd it is made the duty of the Secretars of State to make and issue a docke showing the names of all lobbyists. At the close of each Legislature, persons, firms and corporations are compelled to file a statement, of expenses. Lobbyists are forbidden to go upon the floor of the Senate or House, while in accesson, except upon the invitation of either body, and they are also compelled to tile in advance with the Secretary of State twenty-five copies of any argument they intend to make before a con umittee. Firms and cor porations are forbidden to employ lobby lats contingent upon the passage or detest of any measure. Any violation is made a felony and punishable by one year's imprisonment and a fine of $1,000. In case of a corporation or association the punishment is a fine of $1,000.

Rumored Plans of Campaign The present intention is to let the Sea ate fight out the primary proposition first while the House will wre tle with the bill for the restriction of lobbyists. was introduced by Representative Ivory and sent to the committee on State af-fairs. The primary bill was introduced in the House by Representative Dickin-son and by Senator Fyfe in the Senata. introduced by Representative Ivory where it was sent to the committee on elections, composed of Fyfe, Bland and Kane, which makes it certain that the neasure will be reported out with lay. The new measure is a redraft of the old Dickinson bill and contains some additions. The third Tuesday in August is fixed for primary day and it is also provided that there will be a general pri-mary election in the State on the first mary election in the State on the Monday in April preceding every presiden tial election for the purpose of electing four delegates from each congressional district to the national convention of the several parties. The boxers will try to amend the bill and fall, and then the bill will fail of passage. In order to counter the boxers will frame another bill exclud ing the 40 per cent provision and such other clauses as they consider objection-able and force the administrationists to kill it if they want to.

Governor Reads His Message. Gov. Warner, while reading his mes several times in order to emphasize ideas concerning the primary law or lob bylsts. In this connection he took occasion to deny that the 40 per cent pro vision was placed in the primary law in order to effect a compromise with him and he declared that the record would show that he had favored the bill that originally passed the House in 1905, which did ot contain any percentage clau while urging the benefit of allowing the people to select their candidates he made the point that only one State having the primaries resorts to the convention system where a nomination is not made others, he said, order a second pri mary. In concluding, he also took occa-sion to say that he would sign any bill that improved the present primary law, no matter from what source it came, but of course this implies the right of the Governor to decide what he considers an improvement. He also urged the extension of the direct system to the sele of delegates to the national conventions He also urged warfare on "lobbyists who come to Lansing to debauch the Legislature.

Makes Further Recommendations Gov. Warner Thursday sent to the spe ial session of the Legislature another message making a number of additional recommendations, among them that a law be enacted providing for the assessment and taxation of the property of telephone and telegraph companies in the State by the ad valorem system, instead of specific ally, and for the payment by the punies of the average rate of faxation paid by other property in the State. The Governor also recommended that the law governing the taxation of expre fluencing legislation. Aside from the panies in this State be amended so as to forbld them including the ocean nileage in the computation on which their as-sessment is based. He also recommended that legislation be enacted at this special session to prevent overcapitalization of railroad companies by bringing the matter under State supervision. Bills were introduced embodying the Governor's recom

eatermongers as Well as Arlaid erais famist on Americal Rest. August is a month which might just as well be cut out of the calendar so far as anything besides pleasure is concerned, says Town and Country. Business during that time comes to more of a standstill than ever. The most nopular books are those containing the time tables of railway and steamship companies and the general conversation turns to shooting, fishing. yachting, golfing and out-of-door sub-jects in general. Lest it may be supnosed that I am referring only to portion of the people of these islands, I hasten to add that everybody-man woman and child-has the holiday fever so badly that there is little use in doing anything that may at all be compared to useful work. The costermonger as well as the aristocrat insists on baving his annual rest from toll. The one goes to Scot-land on the moors to shoot grouse; the other bies himself with his family to Margate and Southens to shoot gines bottles off a string or to make himself thoroughly miserable by going off in a sixpenny sailing barge for a Britain rules the waves, but on the other hand, the waves rule a good many Britons, particularly those who make London their home.

London is supposed to be the greatest seaport in the world, and yet the average Londoner knows less about the sea than the Parisinn, which is saying a good deal. The Parisian, at least, goes to the seaside and bathes, in buttalions at Trouville, at Dieppe, at Havre, at Etaples, at Etretat and Boulogre. He spends his time be-tween his dejenner a in fourchette, his dip in the sea (it is the most wonder-ful sight in the world to see a Frenchman bathe) and the playing of petits chevaux in the Casino. Not so his brother across the channel. The Englishman has not time for bathing in the surf. He rides the festive donkey, shies the cocoanut, drives about in charabanes, eats wincles with a hairnin and listens to the "coon" songs of the most impossible "niggers" ever infested a wave-swent beach But it is the holiday spirit nevertheless, and there is no escaping it in London. Sloane street, Bond street and Piccadilly look as if they had been visited by the plague. There are few promenaders and fewer equipages The pavements are empty save for people who are fettered to brainessand American tourists. The parks might as well be closed, for all the fashionables are away. We are close on "the 12th," St. Grouse's day, which marks the beginning of the shooting season, when the moors will resound with the crack of the sporting gun and all Scotland will be overrun with people from the south who are either devoted to sport or attending shooting parties at country houses.

DIGGING THROUGH MILLIONS.

Money Piles as Fast as the Dirt in the Panama Ditch. Light on the progress of the work on the Panama canal is shed by the the month of August the aggregate exStates began operations on the istlemus the total amount of the excavation to be done under the ninns now being followed was 111,280,000 cubic equal to the highest record under De-

Lesseps. But it is possible that if Au-exceeded all previous records.

vards and the total excavation to Aug. 31 of this year was 10,863,684 yards, leaving something over 100,-600,600 cubic yards yet to be moved. At the August rate the completion of this part of the work would require eighty months, or six years and eight months. But the number of steam shovels at work now (sixty-three) is to be increased by the addition of thirty-four, and it may be possible to increase the excavation to a maximum of 2,000,000 cubic yards per month, in which case this branch of the work can be finished in less than five years.
How much did it cost to excavate

1,274,404 cubic yards in August? The appropriations for the current fiscal rear are about $80,000,000, of which a considerable nart must be expended for cars and machinery. The amount now available is over $0,000,000 per month. There are now about 40,000 persons on the pay roll at Panama, and when the additional shovels are set to work this number will probably be increased to 50,000. The amount of $6,500,000 a month now available has already bee found insufficient, and will probably have to be increased to $8,000,000 a month, or about $100,000,000 annually, If the dirt is to continue to "fly." the work of excavation proceeds during the next five years at this accelerated rate, therefore, the amount to be seeded for excavation will exceed $500,000,000 in addition to the $100. 00,000 or more already invested.

But there is the huge dam at Gatun and the system of locks to be built. which, the engineers say, will require more time than the work of excavadefinite and trustworthy estimate of the cost of this part of the canal construction. It may be guessed that this item will not be less than $250,000,000. There is probably no good reason to expect the canal to be finished according to the present plans for a sum which will bring the total expenditure by the United States within $1,000. 000,000. Then we shall be able to float our warshins across the Isthmus of Panama, but the bulk of the freight troffic over the Central American diride will probably continue to go over the Tehnantenec railway, unless the canal tolls shall be made so low as to be merely nominal. The Panama canal seems to be a sentimental rather than a business enterprise.

MAKE MONEY WITHOUT BOSS.

Chicago Barbers Try Co-opera-tive Scheme Successfully. Six Chicago barbers, all first-class men, decided recently that they could live without being shackled by a "boss." They clubbed together, started a shop, and are making good. These six men determined to try co-operation instead of working for fixed wages. They had made from $12 to $17 a week working for bosses. Sometimes their carnings fell below $12, but seldom went above $17. They had worked on had nover been employed in the servegular salaries, on commission, and ice. Then they were admitted to the w decided to take a chance. Not one of the six had enough money to start of the 1,105 employes in the departothers. #### As a Girl Sees It.

DEAR EDITOR:-Will you permit one of the girl readers of your paper to occupy a little space in your highly appreciated Home Circle department. I will begin, girl-like, by asking a question. Has no one seen a good girl lately? Are girls now-s-days much worse than those of yore? The average newspaper would make you think so. Every Journal (your own excepted) which I pick up has one or more columns devoted to things against women, until I have become frightened, and find myself wondering if I, too, am one of those dreadful creatures. And are those articles written by men? If so, they must be men without homes or families, who have mixed with a debased class of society. Surely no honerable gentleman would pen an honerable gentleman would pen an article such as we daily peruse demonuncing all the gentler sex as extravagant, jealous, faithless, nay, even immodest, and no home to receive the kiss of a dear wife or meet the innocent eyes of a bevy of sisters or daughters. These articles sow the seed in the minds of young men, for seed in the minds of young men, for thoughts and feelings that would never have risen there without teaching. Now I am young, and am worldly wise, at least, yet I have had my little experience, and I must say that I have met with many pure, good women, kind mothers, loving wives dutiful daughters, affectionate sisters; women who are not for ruining their husbands or fathers' by extravagance; who are not falling in love with every handsome man they see, who are not eloping every day with the family physician or husband's friend; but sensible in every respect. And I have met very good men. I regret it. I do not wish to speak against the men, for Igather like them and am willing to say that my experience has been, perhaps unfortunate. I am inclined to believe that as in all ages there has existed noble men, "faithful in love, brave in war," so they may still be found—faithful in love (when there is plenty of money), -brave in war (with a major generalship ahead), and pretty good, usually, when the skys are serene and they have nothing to cross it. And now I claim a champion.

Now, Mr. Editor, if this, my first attempt at newspaper writing does not find the waste basket you may hear from me again. Very truly,

Will not some one be brave enough to stand in opposition to popular opinion and truthful enough to say to the public that he has seen at least one or two real good girls in the course of a year? If such a one can be found I will thank him warmly, and will thick

Great Britain and Russia have sign ed an agreement which removes all danger of a conflict between the two nations in Asia and promises much for the future peace of the world. In this connection it is noted that Javanese talk of hostility toward the United States has ceased. This is credited to the disfavor with which such talk was received by European nations and by the recent showing of our naval strength. If there was ever danger of war between the United States and Japan, that danger is now passed. BAVED OR LOST?

Matt. 25: 33.

By Rev. Henry F. Cops. "He shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on his left."-

What is it to be saved? Once there was no difficulty in securing a glib answer to that question. He was saved who professed to believe certain things; he was danned who doubted them. The saved were ticketed to heaven; the rest were as plainly ticketed elsewhere.
The comfort of being billed clear through to everlasting bliss without so much as a change of cars doubtless was enhanced by the opportunity to gaze with complacency mingled with diseration on those poor wretches who were condigned to everlasting tor

This simple division of the race into the "ins" and the "outs," the elect and the doomed, remained satisfactory. however, only as long as there was no other standard raised by which men should be measured than that of the formal acceptance of a creed. As soon as moral, standards were introduced new alignment began to take place. If you begin to classify into the good and the bad the results will be differ having the ship that can ride the seas ent from that reached by the stand of the saved and the lost. Besides this you have a new problem that of the man who neither is good nor had, who neither belongs with the heep nor with the goats. If you insist on clear-cut divisions, what are you going to do with him? There are

The truth is that every man belongs to this class so far as his character is concerned; there are none unmixed with evil nor any unadulteratedly bad. There usually is more good than we expect in others and more base than we recognize in ourselves. What ther has become of the old sharp line be tween the saved and the lost?

There is a distinction; there is a difference. Men either are finding life or losing it. But that is a different thing from classifying humanity on the tests of their intellectual and moral nimbleness in credal gymnastics. The differences between men are funda mental and moral, rather than intel ectual and external.

Salvation is not a legal fiction, right conferred by virtue of a fact belleved. Salvation is living up; dam nation is dying down. Heaven is growing up into the life and light of the spirit, the higher self; hell is decaying in the death of the flesh.

The great gulf fixed between the mved and the lost is vital; it is determined by the direction of life. It grows wider between individuals as each persists in his chosen course, the one reaching after the worthy things before, the other sinking in the lowe depths. It requires no decree issuing In thunder to separate a man; be de termines his place and lot by the direction in which he sets his face.

No man can look down and live no No matter to what creed you may give unreserved assent, no matter in what neasure you may trust to the virtues or the mercy of the most high, if your life goes down, if character deteriorates, if the soul shrinks, if the beast develops, you banish yourself to perdi

A man needs no crednl test of himself, no ecclesinstical test; here is the answer to the question, Am I saved? Am I turning my face to the Am I learning the life of love? Is my life worth more to the world than it was? Is it richer, fuller, sweeter, more like the ideal life of the Son of Man?

THE MERRY HEART. By Rov. George D. Sparks.

A merry heart is a good medicine.-Proverbs 17:22.

A noted lawyer when asked the secret of his success replied: "I always deadly enruest. I would look and act as though the other side had not the slightest chance to controvert my arguments. In a word, I did my best to create an atmosphere that would be the means of helping me to win my suit." This answer has a profound truth in it. It was the deliberate action of a man of the world to bring about the success of his own ends. It was the result of an entirely selfish motive to effect one's own aggrandizement.

And yet the explanation can touch us who acknowledge the supremacy of Christ very deeply; for truly the children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light The aucrosaful lawyer always tried, for purely selfish ends, to create an atmos phere in order to make any impres tion; the phristian, the follower of the Master, ought also to strive to create an atmosphere by carrying the spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ around with him, to uphulld the kingdom of God among men and advance the cause of his Savior smong the nations of the

A simple buoyant, merry, trustful disposition will do more good in the world than tons of sermons, wagen loads of supercilions criticisms, carloads of biting and serentic con No one but God knows how far the industries of one personality reaches in merry heart, a cheerful disposition, a sun-illumined soul? Well, to begin with, we must have faith in God. This lies at the root of all our thinking. We cannot face life bravely and un shrinkingly without belief in Providence. "To see life steadily and to see It whole," we must have some conception of a power outside ourselves, that guards us, guides us and protects us.

If we have faith in God, a strong conviction that there is a heavenly Father, who knows and cares for His children, then the next ingredient for a merry heart is to work-to lose oneself in some enterprise, to labor early and late for the accomplishment of some great end, to be a creator in a small way and thus be like God, who inade the universe.

What will be the gain of a merry heart? The Bible says it will be an good medicine. That is to say, it will enable a man to look on the bright side of things, and surely this will be of the very highest benefit. We have been placed here by a great Being to do a certain special work—a work that can be done by no one else, but to us to whom it has been entrusted. Therefore, anything and everything that will assist a Christian in his lifework is a gain and an advantage, and most truly a merry heart is a good medicine. A brave determination to look on the bright side of things will make a man a blessing, not a curse to his fellow men.

not again.--Peter 2: 23. If you should see one man slap an other across the mouth you would instantly walt with eager expectancy for the return blow from the smitten one, and if it did not come you would despise him; if, in your presence, one man spat in the face of another man and the outrage was not promptly resented, you would characterize second man as a base coward; if the lie were received unchallenged he who accepted the stigma would be viewed with contempt as unworthy of respect or consideration. You would entertain feelings of overwhelming scorn and disgust toward the insulted in every case. They would be held to have forfelted their manhood and their honor by a base and ignoble submission. Humanity could scarcely think otherwise of them.

The other day a little deaf-mute girl in my congregation presented herself at service with her little head a mass of handages. When I learned that she had been attacked, ruthlessly and wan tonly, by a brutal young man, who had actually struck her on the forehead sharp stone, I fairly ached to with a get hold of the wretched degenerate and every one who saw the girl and heard the story shared in my desire. You share it now as you read. We could not be normal men and women if we did not have these feelings to which I have alluded. They are what is called "natural" under the circum-

Yet there was One who was buffet ed hy men's hands, on whose face men spat, who was branded a liar, a blasphemer, a drunkard; upon whom every conceivable insult was heaped, who was finally crucified, who bore these things without return without resentment. As a sheep before the shearers is dumb, so he opened not his mouth; he gave his back to the smiters, he drank the cup of trembling to the dregs without a word; he suffered all these things without a murmur.

Yet to-day he stands before human ity as the highest exemplar of nobil-ity and courage. No one now considers him a coward. We see nothing base or ignoble in his submission. His nonone absolutely true man of all history. The world marvels at his self-restraint. In a word, we literally love him for the very course which would make us despise other men.

Is there not something terribly striking and significant in that? Does it not point to the great fact-as Napo who was a man himself and who knew men so well, declared—Jesus Christ was, nay, is, more than a man Is there greater evidence to be found anywhere of his divinity in humanity than that we love him for the very qualities which have a tendency to make us scorn mere men who some times practice them?

WITH THE JACKASS BATTERY. Men and Mules Required for Work in the Mountains.

One of the most interesting organisations which took part in the man-euvers at Camp Tacoma, Washington, of western troops under Gen. Freder ick Funston was the 11th battalion, field artillery, Maj. C. A. Bennett com-

The battalion consisted of the seventeenth and eighteenth batteries, some-times referred to as "jackass" batteries, says Leslie's Weekly, because of the use of mules. The battery pieces are transported in sections on the backs of mules, the guns and carriages being divided into four parts, making four packs for the same number of animals.

This enables the batteries to be transported through the most difficult with the sugar; when it is melted regions accessible to troops, and the guns can be brought into action in thick jelly forms. Skim while it bolls.

Try the jelly by taking a little in a States army these batteries are comparatively new, but they received their baptism in the Philippines and have proved their practical value in many skirmishes upon the cottas and forts of the Moros.

The work requires not only intelligent but powerful men. The gun itself weighs 36 pounds and the trail the same, but the men handle the pieces with ease.

The mules, too, are familiar with the drill and perform their parts in drink." a very intelligent manner. They know their respective positions, and when the load is lifted they immediately jump forward, so the piece can be placed directly on the ground.

The gun used in these batteries has a range of from 3,500 to 4,000 feet. It fires a large shell, but has a lower mussle velocity than the larger field pleces. In design the piece is somewhat similar to the "screw" gun of the British army.

"Our Italian cigars are not so good," he said. "They are made by the gov-ernment. They are as long and thin as a lead pencil, and they have a straw in the middle; otherwise they would not draw. You light these Italian cigars of ours over a lamp, a specially-made cigar lamp that burns with a strong flame. The lighting requires from three to five minutes. These cigars, for all the trouble they take, are poor. I gave one to an American in Rome one morning. He put it in his pocket and said he would smoke it later.

Fighting for Mud.

Mad seems to be the latest com-modity which has been cornered. The monopolist is the well-known Bohem an watering place Franzenbad, whose wonderful healing mud baths are fa mous throughout the world. The news of Franzenbad's business enterprise has just become known in the course of a lawsuit at Eger between the Saxon government and the municipality of Franzenbad.

Saxony has a watering place also with mud baths, Bad Elster. Some time ago Bad Elster entered into negotiations to buy a large area of ground containing mineral mud deposites near Franzenbad.

When the Bohemian town heard what was going on they promptly de-cided to head off their Saxon rivals and stepped in and bought up the land hemselves. The Saxons were greatly aggrieved and carried the matter into the Bohemian courts, which decided against them.

During the trial it was stated that although Franzenbad already pos-sessed an inexhaustible supply of this recious mud the town had spent more han a million crowns in buying up all the mud lands in the surrounding country in order to secure exclusive possession for all time of this valu ble healing remedy.

Horse Dentists Needed. A bright young weman who attends the horse shows remarked that she believed many horses indicated suffering from diseased teeth by rest-lessness and other forms of "bad manners." On giving the subject con hat this is not there is also room for much improve-

About the only treatment prescribed by the ordinary veterinarian and or groom, is "floating" or filing the teeth which become worn down on one side and leave the higher side sharp and sometimes jagged. But we never hear anything about filling the teeth, or otherwise treating them, especially if they or the gums be ulcerated, beyond pulling them out. Mrs. Gladstone, wife of the home ecretary of England, was brought up in the opposite political camp, for she was Miss Dorothy Paget, daughter of Sir Richard Paget, for many years a conservative member for Somerset the great liberal statesman took place nearly six years ago. Though she has given no notable entertainments, this bright, pretty woman often receives the more serious—one might almost say learned—members of the liberal party, and also those who share her husband's devotion to the royal and ancient game of golf. She is thoroughly well read, takes an interest in politics and to a certain extent shares in Mr. Gladstone's love of outdoor life. But it was music that draw them together in the first place. She is very musical and he is specially fond of part singing. And while singing together they mutually fell in love.
